

Purchase agreement and amendment

Executed agreement extract | September 18, 2026

File AL-X26. Property: 18 Alder Lane, Kingston, Ontario. Parcel identifier DEMO-PIN-001. Purchaser Alex Chen. Vendor Morgan Ellis. Price CAD 700,000. Deposit CAD 35,000 held by fictional transaction counsel. Completion October 15, 2026. Residential freehold purchase.

Schedule A describes the main lot as Lot 12, fictional Plan DEMO-44. Marketing particulars also describe a rear access strip, Part 2, DEMO-PLAN-82. The signed legal-description schedule includes Lot 12 only; Part 2 is not expressly included. Purchaser expects exclusive vehicle access to the rear garage.

Vendor promises vacant possession, subject to any tenancy expressly accepted in a signed amendment. Vendor states that notices received concerning the premises will be delivered to counsel. Buyer acknowledges that an old survey is supplied for information only.

Jordan Vale signs correspondence as representative. The agreement records that documents establishing authority to execute the transfer and direct proceeds must be supplied separately. This extract does not certify execution, identity or authority.

Purchase agreement and amendment

Amendment and use correspondence | October 8-10, 2026

Signed amendment dated October 8: buyer accepts continuation of the basement tenancy under lease AL-L1 through June 30, 2027. All other terms, including October 15 completion and the price, remain unchanged. No financing consent is attached.

Buyer email, October 9: I plan to occupy the main floor after renovations. Until then I will keep the current tenants and may rent the main floor for six months. Please keep the original financing deadline.

Jordan email, October 10: The garage has always used the strip. Everyone treats it as part of the yard. The neighbour will not mind. No deed transferring Part 2 or current neighbour consent is attached.

An unsigned draft amendment circulated October 10 proposes October 22 completion. Its signature lines are blank. The last signed completion date remains October 15. No one may treat the draft as an executed extension.
